We are dedicated to the highest standards in the field of inflammatory dermatoses and neoplastic dermatopathology.

FAQ'

When is skin punch biopsy needed ?

Skin biopsy can be the only way to reach a definitive diagnosis. Many skin dermatoses overlap clinically or become refractory to treatment and a biopsy is required for a specific diagnosis to better design the management. Skin biopsy is also necessary to achieve a definitive diagnosis on neoplastic lesions in order to adequately plan surgical excisions.

How long does it take to receive a skin punch biopsy result ?

On average, results are released within 48 hours of the procedure to allow for prompt treatment. Occasionally, a sample requires additional specialized ancillary testing that can take up to 3-4 working days.

Who will read the skin punch biopsy ?

All skin cases are read by a highly qualified, board certified dermatopathologist having over 10 years experience in the field. Slide review consultation services and ancillary studies including special stains and immunohistochemistry services are also available.

Is skin punch biopsy safe ?

This is a safe, minimally invasive procedure performed under local anesthesia. The procedure implements round-tipped biopsy tool to remove a small core of skin tissue avoiding vital underlying structures to be processed and interpreted for diagnosis. A single stitch might be needed to close the wound.
